Legendary modernity

It is, together with the Amsterdam Centraal station, one of the illustrious occupants of the emblematic Prins Hendrikkade square, the point of entry to the heart of Amsterdam. When walking through the doors of the NH Collection Barbizon Palace, a bright lobby welcomes the traveller, extending an old street towards the interior. On its sides, the façades of old houses from the 17th century shelter nowadays, within their old premises, a hotel bar, breakfast restaurant or a meeting room.

Each corner of this iconic hotel, nearly 300 years old, is a perfect merger between modernity and history. Its 274 rooms and lobby area evoke the romance of the past, with wooden beams and pointed ceiling, yet with a sleek and contemporary touch. With its Michelin starred restaurant Vermeer and its unique event spaces it is a unique hotel in “the Venice of the North”.

Personal attention, outstanding facilities and unmatched heritage make your stay in NH Collection Barbizon Palace an exceptional experience.

The ‘Grande dame’ of the city

Rising above the Amstel River is a building with over 500 years of history. Within the foundations of Amsterdam’s first hotel lies the history of this Dutch capital city, hiding secrets of medieval wars and tales of exclusive parties held by the haute bourgeoisie. Where in the past there was a defensive wall, today we find the NH Collection Amsterdam Doelen, one of the city’s most exquisite hotels. Queen Victoria and the Empress Sissi made this hotel their base of operation when in the city. Today, it has been reborn as the best representative of 21st century sophistication, elegance and comfort.

This 5 star hotel has 81 rooms and suites, some with canal views, all with an elegant, modern-style décor. Interesting fact: Rembrandt was asked to paint the Night Watch which hang in the hotel for over 100 years, now lending its name to one of the suites in the hotel. Feel the heartbeat of historic Amsterdam and enjoy a boutique hotel experience at NH Collection Doelen.
